

The Death of John Cage

My name is Connor Kurtz.

I was born on January 31, 1995.

Scott Walker's Tilt was released 97 days later and Bjork's Post was released 38 days after that Doopee Time was released 127 days after that, and Quality Time was released the following month.

The Incapacitant's Ministry of Foolishness was released the same year and Ben Johnston wrote his tenth and final string quartet.

I share a birthday with John Lydon of the Sex Pistols and Public Image Limited, Fat Mike of NOFX and Justin Timberlake.

389 years before I was born, the dead body of Guy Fawkes was drawn and quartered.

John Cage passed away 902 days before I was born.

Earlier that year, John Cage composed Sixty-Eight, Four Six and Thirteen.

In the same year, the Wandelweiser Group was formed.

8,886 days after the death of John Cage, I released You Are Crying, My Child.

323 days before that, Clara Iannotta released A Failed Entertainment.

89 days later, The Gerogerigegege released Moenai Hai, and Toshiya Tsunoda released Somashikiba 170 days after that.

3 days before I released You Are Crying, My Child, Keith Rowe released The Room Extended, and 65 days after, Hiroyuki Ura released Scores.

18,561 days before the death of John Cage, Keith Rowe was born.

5,832 days later, Jackson Pollock died in a drunken car crash.

8,983 days after the death of John Cage, I will release First Snow.

24,932 days after the death of John Cage, I will pass away.

14 days later, my only daughter will give birth to her first of three children.